Public Comment – Vero Beach City Council Three Corners Redevelopment

Good evening, my name is Kenneth George, and I'm a local creative director and educator developing a new educational initiative called the Pierpoint Institute of Art, Science & Innovation.

I want to thank the council and Clearpath for the vision shown in the Three Corners redevelopment plan. I noticed the inclusion of the Willow Museum as a cultural space, but I'd like to ask:

What plans currently exist within this redevelopment to support public-facing educational facilities? Specifically, opportunities that foster learning, innovation, and community engagement—whether through partnerships, creative labs, or educational institutions?

I believe Vero Beach has a chance to lead not only in tourism and conservation, but in education and creative technology as well.

Thank you.
